The exercises Monday night were, as usual, largely attended, when the pupils acquitted themselves with marked proficiency. This, with the exception of the boys' exhibition, closes the school's series of entertainments, every one of which has tended to increase the public confidence in its usefulness and strengthen the disposition to sustain it.

The Independent Silver Cornet Band dispensed appropriate music each evening, enhancing the exercises and affording greater enjoyment to the enlightened audience which graced the occasion.

On last Friday, June 25th, the body of an unknown white man was found on the bank of the Mississippi river, near Conrad's Point, supposed to be that of a deck hand from one of the steamboats, who had fallen overboard and drowned, as he had a cotton hook secured around his waist. The proper authority was summoned and the body viewed and properly buried.

This is a good opportunity for an active man owning a horse, or has or can control one hundred dollars, who is seeking employment, to engage in a lucrative business. We advise such to give this matter a thorough investigation without delay.

Conrad's Budweiser bottled beer is not only stimulating, but strengthening to the body.

Collegiate Institute.

The exhibition at the Magruder Collegiate Institute, last Friday night, was very interesting. The school-room of this institution of learning—founded many years ago, by Prof. W. H. N. Magruder, who has, since the early days of his manhood, devoted himself to the cause of education—was brilliantly lighted; all the seats were occupied by ladies while every available space was thronged with the stronger sex, all of whom had come, despite the inclemency of the weather, to witness an occasion, always entertaining and instructive at this sterling College, where hosts of pupils, many of whom won distinction in the pursuits of life, have received the substantial basis of their education under the vigilant care of the learned principal.

The exercises were opened with prayer, after which the Independent Silver Cornet Band executed a charming prelude, followed by the subjoined

The audience is a unit in pronouncing the exhibition one of the most creditable ever held at the Institute. It was evident that the pupils had not lost their time during the last session. Indeed, their efforts must have afforded great gratification to the parents who had the pleasure of witnessing their proficiency and excellent training. Besides the attention given by the principal to the studies of his pupils, he has been most ably seconded by his son, Mr. J. B. Magruder, to whom great praise is due for the success achieved.

In addition to the programme, a surprise was offered to Messrs. Ivy and Granary in the shape of medals—awarding one to the former for exemplary conduct in the class room, and to the latter for remarkable aptitude in the recitations.

Where so many of the pupils deserve praise, we do not deem it proper to make invidious distinctions. We can only assert that the Collegiate Institute is in every way up to its palmiest days, when it was recognized as one of the best schools in the Southwest.

Thursday's Edition.

The University.

Since our last report, Hon. W. H. Pipes, Major Rene T. Beauregard and Col. Will A. Strong have arrived, thus constituting a quorum of ten Supervisors. The Board has been actively at work every day this week in Committee or in a body. They have adopted a resolution declining to make any legal defense to the just claims against the old University. A Committee has been appointed to collect the assets and pay a pro rata, as far as they will go toward liquidating these debts.

A Finance Committee, composed of Messrs. Fay, Dolhonde and Beauregard, with the Vice President as Chairman, is to take steps to collect assets and liquidate claims against the present institution. A Committee was also appointed to draft rules for the government of Cadets, etc., during the coming recess.

A resolution providing for the establishment of a farm, where all that can be produced in Louisiana, under the direction of a practical planter, who is to receive one thousand dollars a year as a salary, was introduced on yesterday by Mr. Gunby. It will doubtless pass, with some modifications.

The feasibility of doing away with the present system of maintaining Cadets was fully discussed. It is probable that material changes will be effected in this connection, which will leave it optional with the Cadets to board in or out of the University.

A resolution was adopted, asking the Government for permission to use certain land reservations for the Agricultural Farm.

The Board is composed of hard working, practical men, who seem determined to make a success of their management.

A resolution requesting Gen. Sherman to suspend the order to Lieut. Janar to return to his regiment, until a communication can be forwarded, setting forth the reasons why, in the interest of the College, they ask that he be allowed to remain, was adopted.

A resolution was also adopted instructing the Finance Committee to place in the hands of the attorneys, for collection, all claims against parents of Cadets for maintenance, etc.

Our old friend, Commodore James Scarborough, was in to see us this morning. He was in fine spirits about the crops—utterly forgetting that which is more interesting to the boys, his beautiful progeny. He is one of the most successful planters in this section, and for his devotion to the most honorable of all professions, he is entitled to the great distinction which graces the brow of his interesting family.

Conrad's Budweiser bottled beer is a summer beverage.

In another column will be found an advertisement that may be of interest to parties who own a horse or can control a sum of money sufficient to supply traveling equipages. A traveling agent is "Wanted" to take orders to have small pictures copied and enlarged. See advertisement, and then apply at this office for further information.

Persons in need of dental work are hereby notified that the accomplished Dental Surgeon, Dr. D. Stocking, is now located at his customary quarters, at Mrs. Curran's—Bank Hotel. He always strives to give satisfaction, and generally succeeds. Call at once, or else you may be too late.

Mr. John Johnson, the Jeweler, announces, in another column, that he has recently made large additions to his splendid stock of jewelry, silver plated ware, watches, clocks, etc. Don't fail to call and examine them before purchasing elsewhere.

NEW SALOON.—Mr. Caddie Pino opened to-day, a Coffee House, in the building known as the "Mentz House." The public and his friends were cordially invited to partake of a sumptuous lunch which was spread upon the occasion. To-night the saloon will be baptized the "Hancock Exchange."

We contribute a good deal of our space to-day to the school exhibitions of our city, knowing that it will be gratifying alike to teachers, pupils and the public generally.

Mr. M. J. Williams advertises in to-day's paper a wonderful improvement in the mechanical line. It comprises Eckles' Patent Long Haul Gutter, a new contrivance that is sweeping the country like the famous "polar wave."

We acknowledge a pleasant call from Mr. J. S. Rivers this morning. He has high hopes for the Crescent City's future and predicts an early opening of the fall trade.

Conrad's Budweiser bottled beer is more of a medicine than a drink.

Saturday's Edition.

At the Blind Institution.

This has been the season of school exhibitions, as will be seen by the reports in the CAPITOLIAN. A most interesting one of these took place at the Institute for the Blind on Wednesday night, at the Harney House, before a crowded house. It was with difficulty that standing room even could be secured, so great was the audience. Under the direction of Dr. Lane and Professor Lavery, the exercises went on with a system truly wonderful, displaying the astonishing progress made by the pupils during the last session. Their recitations were exceedingly well rendered, and the songs and musical morceaux excellently rendered.

We take pleasure in reproducing the interesting

Readville Seminary.

Last Tuesday evening one of the largest assemblies we have seen for some time filled every available space in the front yard of the old and excellent young ladies' Seminary, over which the very talented Directress and finished scholar, Mrs. Read, has presided for about thirty years, gaining with each successive session, additional reputation for thoroughness and superior advantages. Every where almost, through Mississippi, Louisiana, and other States, the accomplished graduates of the Readville Seminary, can be found, occupying prominent positions in society. In this way does the institution speak its own eloquent praise. While the utmost care is extended the pupils in teaching them all the branches of education and those requirements which eminently fit them to become exemplary wives and mothers, they are given all the comforts of a home, coupled with a tender watchfulness. Parents feel, when their daughters are at Mrs. Read's, that they are in trusty hands. No wonder, then, that our people take so great an interest in everything that concerns the institution.

The Silver Cornet Band was there discoursing sweet music during the intervals occurring in the recitations, songs, and discourses of the well trained young lady pupils, whose polished and graceful bearing indicated the successful efforts of their professors.

The exhibition was opened with prayer. Later on, a most elaborate and eloquent address was delivered by that finished orator, Prof. J. W. Nicholson, who maintained, as he does on all occasions, his high reputation. His remarks were most impressive and instructive, the most flattering applause accompanying the discourse.

All who were in attendance are in accord in expressing encomiums upon the remarkable aptitude displayed by the young and charming pupils.
